Toggle

Welcome to Toggle, an exciting and intellectually stimulating self-debating event! This event will test your ability to argue both sides of a motion and showcase your quick thinking, adaptability, and debate skills. In Toggle, each participant will debate against themselves, moving between two positions on the same topic as the moderator calls for a spontaneous "TOGGLE".

In this high-energy, single-person event, you will be tasked with arguing both for and against a motion, switching sides in real-time, all while maintaining coherence and clarity in your arguments. Only those who can toggle seamlessly between opposing views will emerge victorious.

Event Overview:

- Event Type: Single-person, self-debating.
- Format: Participants will stand on two sides of the room—Red Side (Against the motion) and Blue Side (In favour of the motion).
- Toggle Action: The moderator will call "TOGGLE" at various points during the event, prompting participants to switch sides and adjust their arguments accordingly.
- Objective: To demonstrate your debating ability by convincingly arguing both for and against a given motion.

Prize Pool: ₹ 6,000

Event Flow:

1. Introduction and Topic Assignment:

- The event begins with a brief introduction from the moderator, explaining the rules and objectives.
- A topic or word will be randomly assigned to each participant. This could be anything from a social issue to a philosophical question, designed to challenge participants' thinking.

2. Initial Side Selection:

- Upon receiving the topic, each participant will be asked to choose whether they want to start on the Red Side (Against the motion) or the Blue Side (In favour of the motion).
- The participant will have 1 minute to prepare their opening argument from their chosen side.

3. Opening Arguments:

- The participant will begin by delivering their opening argument from the side they've chosen.
- Duration of opening argument: 2 minutes.
- The participant will present their key points, supporting evidence, and reasoning for why they hold that position.

4. Toggle Phase (Switching Sides):

- At any given moment, the moderator will call out "TOGGLE", at which point the participant must immediately switch sides.

- If a participant was previously on the Red Side, they will now stand on the Blue Side (and vice versa). They will then argue from the new perspective, supporting the opposite stance.
- Time to switch sides: 20 seconds.
- Duration per new argument after TOGGLE: 2 minutes.

5. Multiple Toggles:

- The event will include multiple "TOGGLE" calls throughout the course of the debate. Each time, the participant must quickly reassess and reframe their argument from the new position.
- This will continue for a total of 3 to 4 Toggles, allowing the participant to argue both sides of the motion thoroughly.

6. Closing Arguments:

- After the final "TOGGLE", the participant will deliver a closing statement summarizing their points from the final side they've been assigned.
- Duration for closing statement: 1 minute.

7. Judging and Results:

- After all participants have completed their debate, judges will evaluate the arguments based on:
 - Strength of Arguments: Clarity, reasoning, and evidence used for both sides.

- Adaptability: Ability to switch perspectives and adjust the arguments seamlessly after each "TOGGLE".
- Presentation Skills: Confidence, articulation, and engagement during both sides of the debate.
- Creativity and Insight: Originality in arguments and ability to think critically about the topic.
- The participant with the highest score will be crowned "Toggle Champion" and awarded a prize.
 - Rules and Guidelines:
- Choice of Side:
 - At the start of the event, you will choose either the Red Side (Against the motion) or the Blue Side (In favour of the motion).
 - After your initial argument, the "TOGGLE" will prompt you to switch sides, and you must adjust your stance and argument accordingly.
- TOGGLE Command:
 - Upon hearing the "TOGGLE" command, you will have 30 seconds to switch to the opposite side and reformulate your argument from that perspective.
 - You must switch sides quickly and seamlessly, without taking excessive time to prepare. The spontaneity is key!
- Argument Structure:
 - Each time you switch sides, ensure your arguments are well-structured and supported by logic, facts, and examples.

- Opening Arguments (2 minutes): Clearly state your position with supporting points.
- Post-TOGGLE Arguments (2 minutes): Refute your previous side and make a compelling case for the new stance.
- Closing Statement (1 minute): Summarize your points and reinforce why your final position is valid.
- Respectful Debate:
 - Toggle is all about the art of debate. Personal attacks, offensive language, or disruptive behaviour will result in disqualification.
 - Focus on arguing the points, not the person. Engage with the ideas, not with emotional appeals or insults.
- Time Limits:
 - Time limits are strict in this event. Each phase will be timed as follows:
 - Opening Argument: 2 minutes.
 - Post-TOGGLE Arguments: 2 minutes per side.
 - Closing Statement: 1 minute.
 - A timekeeper will be present to ensure fairness and adherence to these limits.
- Judging Criteria:
 - Participants will be judged on the following:

- Argumentation: Logical consistency, depth of reasoning, and clarity of thought.
- Adaptability: Ability to shift between opposing perspectives and maintain a strong argument on both sides.
- Presentation: Confidence, clarity, and persuasiveness in delivering your points.
- Creativity: The originality and thoughtfulness of your arguments, as well as your ability to engage with the topic from both sides.
- Judges will score on a scale of 1-10 in each of the following areas:
 - Argument Strength
 - Adaptability
 - Presentation Skills
 - Creativity & Insight

Audience Role:

- While Toggle is primarily a solo event, the audience is welcome to watch and observe. Audience members should refrain from interrupting or influencing the debate.
- The moderator may allow for brief Q&A at the end of the event, but it is primarily focused on the participant's ability to think and speak independently.
